OUR HISTORY

The Caribbean Studies Association (CSA) is an independent professional organization devoted to the promotion of Caribbean studies from a multidisciplinary, multicultural point of view. It is the primary association for scholars and practitioners working on the Caribbean Region (including Central America and the Caribbean Coast of South America). Its members come from the Caribbean Region, North America, South America, Central America, Europe and elsewhere even though more than half of its members live in the United States many of them teaching at U.S. universities and colleges. Founded in 1974 by 300 Caribbeanists, the CSA now has over 1400 members.

The Caribbean Studies Association enjoys non-profit status and is independent of any public or private institution. Membership is open to anyone interested in sharing its objectives, regardless of academic discipline, profession, ideology, place of residence, ethnic origin, or nationality.

The focus of the CSA is on the Caribbean Basin which includes Central America, the Caribbean Coast of Mexico, as well as Venezuela, Colombia, Northeast Brazil and the three Guianas. The Association serves a critical function for scholars providing one of the only venues for persons working on the Caribbean to come together to share their work, to engage in collaborative endeavors, to exchange ideas, to meet each other, and to develop the field of Caribbean Studies. Most importantly, the Caribbean Studies Association has become potentially one of the most important vehicles for researching, analyzing, and documenting the growing significant presence of populations of Caribbean descent in United States, Canada, and Europe. It provides the perfect venue for maintaining the intellectual and academic connections needed to study this growing phenomenon.

Members of CSA have played leading roles in the Caribbean, most notably in public service and in academia. These include current and past service as leaders of governments, administrators in multilateral and bi-lateral regional organizations. Many of our current members serve in senior positions at Caribbean, North American, and European universities.

Nuestra Historia

La Caribbean Studies Association (CSA, Asociación de Estudios Caribeños) es una asociación profesional e independiente dedicada a la promoción de los estudios caribeños desde un punto de vista multicultural y multidisciplinario. Es la principal asociación para académicos y profesionistas trabajando en la Región del Caribe (incluyendo Centroamérica y las Costas Caribeñas de Suramérica). Sus miembros provienen de las Regiones del Caribe, Norteamérica, Suramérica, Centroamérica, Europa, entre otros lugares; sin embargo más de la mitad de sus integrantes viven en los Estados Unidos, muchos de ellos enseñando en colegios y universidades de ese país. Fundada en 1974 por 300 Caribeños, la CSA tiene ahora poco más de 1100 miembros.

La CSA es una asociación sin fines de lucro e independiente a cualquier institución pública o privada. La membresía está abierta a cualquier interesado en compartir sus objetivos, sin importar su disciplina académica, profesión, ideología, lugar de residencia, origen étnico o nacionalidad.

La CSA se enfoca en la cuenca del Caribe, que incluye a Centroamérica, la Costa Caribeña de México, así como Venezuela, Colombia, el Noreste de Brasil y las tres Guayanas. La asociación cumple una función muy importante ya que les provee a los académicos uno de los únicos espacios, para personas trabajando sobre el caribe, donde pueden reunirse para compartir su trabajo, comprometerse en un esfuerzo en común, intercambiar ideas, conocerse mutuamente e impulsar el campo de los estudios caribeños. Aún más importante la Asociación de Estudios Caribeños se ha convertido potencialmente en uno de los vehículos de investigación más importantes, analizando y documentando el significativo crecimiento de la población caribeña presente en los Estados Unidos, Canadá y Europa. Provee el espacio perfecto para mantener las conexiones intelectuales y académicas necesarias para el estudio de este creciente fenómeno.

Los integrantes de la CSA han desempeñado papeles importantes en el Caribe, mas notablemente en servicios públicos y académicos. Esto incluye servicios, pasados y actuales, como líderes en el gobierno así como administradores en organizaciones regionales bilaterales y multilaterales. Muchos de nuestros miembros actuales se desempeñan en cargos importantes en universidades caribeñas, norteamericanas y europeas.

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Jan DeCosmo

Greetings to all,

CSA is honored to be meeting for the first time in its 40-year history in the United States, in the “Northernmost city of the Caribbean”: New Orleans, Louisiana. We want to extend a warm welcome not only to our members, but also to students, faculty, staff, activists, artists, and others who have only recently discovered our association.

Our theme for this year’s conference reflects the unfortunate fact that today’s 21st-century Planet Earth is continuing to experience a steady growth in global inequality. The term “global apartheid” refers to the fact that throughout the world, fences, boundaries, borders, and barriers confront all aspects of human endeavor and are protected by a minority with power over and control of most of the world’s land, labor, and capital. Yet at the same time, globalization is producing population movements across all these obstacles on an unprecedented planetary scale. Our week-long conference provides an opportunity from a variety of perspectives to analyze, understand, and address the contradictions—pushes and pulls—of this new global reality as it impacts the Caribbean and its diasporas.

Why New Orleans? Long before the “Angle-American” takeover and the Civil War, the city was majority-black with an implicitly African Creole culture. Like many Caribbean nations, its unique history is comprised of three distinct colonial eras entailing almost three centuries of contact and synthesis among African slaves (the last to be imported legally into the U.S.), Spanish and French colonists, gens de couleur libres (free people of color) and native peoples.

Many of our plenaries, round-tables and panels will connect the unique Creole culture of the region with those of Africa and the Caribbean, especially those of Cuba and Haiti. The influence of both on New Orleans is palpable, especially in the French Quarter and Faubourg Tremé (the site of Congo Square). In the early 19th century, refugees coming from revolutionary Saint-Domingue—many by way of eastern Cuba—transformed Louisiana, providing inspiration for the largest slave revolt in U.S. history (1811). New Orleans was also an important port city that enjoyed an almost 200-year long trading relationship with Havana, ending with the U.S. embargo of Cuba.

Today, New Orleans (and Southwest Louisiana/East Texas) is home to a robust and distinctive subculture comprised of black Catholic speakers of Creole. We hope to make manifest these historical connections by providing a forum for multi- and inter-disciplinary perspectives, where the arts and humanities meet the social sciences, and where different ways of seeing and communicating about the world are presented by a diverse array of participants. In addition to the usual academic presentations, CSA 2015 will present two exhibitions (one on- and the other off-site), artistic performances, film screenings, spoken word poetry and literary readings, Rastafarl reasonings, and even a chance to actively participate in an authentic “second line” parade.

You may also sign up for one of the two tours (limited to 25 people each) of the Whitney Plantation Slavery Museum slated for the Sunday before and the Saturday after the conference. Or go on a swamp tour to see the primeval back country featured in the 2012 film, Beasts of the Southern Wild. Or just stroll through the French Quarter at your leisure. One thing is for sure: you will want to come back to New Orleans.

Sincerely,

Jan DeCosmo

De la Presidente

Saludos a todos y todas.

La AEC tiene el honor de reunirse por primera vez en sus 40 años de historia en los Estados Unidos, en “la ciudad más al Norte del Caribe”: Nueva Orleans, Louisiana. Queremos dar una calurosa bienvenida no sólo a nuestros miembros, sino también a los estudiantes, profesores, empleados, activistas, artistas y otros asistentes que sólo recientemente han descubierto nuestra asociación.

El tema de la Conferencia de este año refleja el hecho lamentable de que el Planeta Tierra del siglo XXI continúa experimentando un crecimiento

...constante de la desigualdad global. El término "apartheid global" se refiere al hecho de que en todo el mundo, cercas, límites, ronteras y barreras frente a todos los aspectos de la actividad humana persisten y están protegidas por una minoría con poder y control sobre la mayoría de la tierra, la fuerza laboral y el capital del mundo. Sin embargo, al mismo tiempo, la globalización está produciendo movimientos de población más allá de todos estos obstáculos a una escala planetaria sin precedentes. Nuestra semana de conferencia brinda una oportunidad para analizar, entender e intentar solucionar las contradicciones de esta nueva realidad global, considerando cómo afecta al Caribe y su Diáspora desde una variedad de perspectivas.

¿Por qué Nueva Orleans? Mucho antes de la toma de posesión “Anglo-american” y la Guerra Civil, la ciudad era de mayoría negra con una cultura criolla de origen africano. Como muchas naciones del Caribe, su historia única está compuesta por tres épocas coloniales distintas, que implican casi tres siglos de contacto, y la síntesis entre los esclavos africanos (los últimos en ser importados legalmente a los Estados Unidos), los colonos españoles y franceses, las gentes libres de color y los pueblos nativos.

Muchas de nuestras sesiones plenarias, mesas redondas y paneles conectarán la singular cultura criolla de la región con las de África y el Caribe, especialmente las de Cuba y Haití. La influencia de ambos en Nueva Orleans es palpable, especialmente en el Barrio Francés y Faubourg Tremé (el sitio de la Plaza del Congo). En los principios del siglo XIX, los refugiados procedentes de la Santo Domingo revolucionaria —muchos habiendo pasado por el Oriente de Cuba— trasformaron Luisiana, convirtiéndose en la inspiración para la mayor revolución esclava en la historia de Estados Unidos (1811). Nueva Orleans fue también una importante ciudad puerto que disfrutó de una larga relación de intercambio por casi 200 años con La Habana, la cual terminó con el embargo estadounidense de Cuba.

Hoy, Nueva Orleans (y la Luisiana del Sureste, así como el Este de Texas) es hogar de una subcultura sólida y distintiva compuesta por negros católicos hablantes del criollo. Esperamos hacer evidentes estas conexiones históricas al proporcionar un foro para perspectivas multi-disciplinarias, donde se encuentren las Artes y las Humanidades con las Ciencias Sociales, y donde una gran diversidad de participantes presente sus diferentes formas de ver y explicar el mundo. Además de las habituales presentaciones académicas, la conferencia de la AEC será el escenario de dos exposiciones (una dentro y otra fuera de la sede), representaciones artísticas, proyecciones de cine, poesía hablada y lecturas literarias, razonamientos rastafarí, e incluso de la oportunidad de participar activamente en un auténtico desfile de "segunda línea".

Nuestros participantes pueden también inscribirse para uno de los dos recorridos (limitados a 25 personas cada uno) del Museo de la esclavitud de la Plantación Whitney, programadas para el domingo antes y el sábado después de la Conferencia. O ir en un tour al pantano para ver el país primitivo que aparece en la película Bestias del sur salvaje de 2012. O simplemente pasear por el barrio francés en su tiempo libre. Una cosa es segura: todos querrán volver a Nueva Orleans.

Atentamente,

Jan DeCosmo

De la Présidente

Salutations à toutes et à tous.

L’Association des Etudes Caribéennes est très honorée de se réunir pour la première fois de son histoire de quarante ans aux États-Unis, dans la « ville le plus au nord de la Caraïbe »: la Nouvelle-Orléans, en Louisiane. Nous tenons à souhaiter une bienvenue chaleureuse, non seulement à nos membres, mais aussi aux étudiants, aux professeurs, aux personnels, aux militants, aux artistes et à ceux qui n’ont découvert que récemment notre association.

Notre thème de la Conférence de cette année reflète le fait regrettable qu’au vingt-et-unième siècle de planète continue de traverser l’accroissement de l’inégalité au niveau mondial. Le terme « apartheid mondial » désigne le fait que partout dans le monde, des clôtures, des limites, des frontières et des obstacles ont été érigées de manière continue dans tous les domaines d’activité humaine et qui sont tenus et protégés par une minorité qui ont le pouvoir et le contrôle de la main-d’œuvre et le capitale de la majeure partie de la terre. Alors qu’en même temps, la mondialisation incite des mouvements de population à travers tous ces obstacles à l’échelle planétaire sans précédent. Notre conférence de semaine fournit l’occasion d’une diversité de perspectives et d’approches pour analyser, comprendre et résoudre ces contradictions—attraction et répulsion—de cette nouvelle réalité mondiale et son impact sur la Caraïbe et ses diasporas.

Pourquoi la Nouvelle-Orléans ? Bien avant la prise de contrôle des « Anglo-American » et la guerre civile, la ville était déjà à majorité noire avec une culture creole implicitement africaine. Comme beaucoup de nations de la Caraïbes, son histoire unique se compose de trois époques coloniales distinctes, entraînant près de trois siècles de contact et de la synthèse entre les esclaves africains (le dernier à être légalement importés aux États-Unis), les colons espagnols et Français, les gens de couleur libres et les peuples autochtones.

Bon nombre de nos séances plénières, tables rondes et panneaux tisseront des liens entre la culture créole unique de la région avec ceux d’Afrique et des Caraïbes, notamment ceux de Cuba et d’Haïti. L’influence des deux sur la Nouvelle-Orléans est palpable, surtout dans le quartier Français et le Faubourg Tremé (le site de Congo Square). Au début du XIXe siècle, les réfugiés venant de Saint-Domingue révolutionnaire—beaucoup ayant passé par la partie est de Cuba—ont transformé la Louisiane, en fournissant l’inspiration qui emmènera au plus grand révolte esclave dans l’histoire américaine (1811). La Nouvelle-Orléans était aussi une ville portière importante qui a eu une longue relation d’échange pendant près de 200 ans avec la Havane, se terminant par le blocus américain de Cuba.

Aujourd’hui, la Nouvelle-Orléans (et le sud-ouest de la Louisiane/East Texas) abrite une sous-culture robuste et distinctive composée de noirs catholiques parlant du créole. Nous espérons rendre manifeste ces liens historiques en offrant un lieu de rencontre dans la perspective du multiculturel et transdisciplinarités, où les arts et les sciences humaines parlent aux sciences sociales, et où les différentes façons de voir et de communiquer au sujet du monde sont présentés par une grande diversité de participants. Outre les présentations académiques habituelles, CSA 2015 présentera deux expositions (une sur place et l’autre hors site), des performances artistiques, des projections de films, de la poésie orale et des lectures littéraires, du raisonnement Rastafari et même une chance de participer activement à un authentique défilé de "deuxième ligne."

Sincères salutations,

Jan DeCosmo
MESSAGE FROM THE PROGRAM COMMITTEE CO-CHAIRS

Karen Flynn and Keithley Woolward

Dear CSA members,

Welcome to the Caribbean Studies Association 2015 conference! Along with our regular CSA cultural programming, we have a line-up of excellent speakers, panels, plenaries, and performances. We are confident there will be an abundance of rich, engaging and informative moments as we come together for this historic moment. Jan DeCosmo’s vision of having the Caribbean Studies Association celebrate its 40th year of existence in New Orleans, Louisiana, has resulted in upwards of 600 participants. It is our hope that hosting the conference in the city of New Orleans will allow for collaborations, new and renewed friendships, and an increase in membership.

As the organization celebrates its fortieth anniversary, we have a singular opportunity—individually and as a group—to assess, celebrate and affirm our critical engagement to the circum-Caribbean and its turbulent history, diverse locations and multiple forms of linguistic, cultural, and artistic expressions. As you read the following pages, you will see the conference theme developed in various incarnations as scholars and artists grapple with the ramifications of the Caribbean region caught up in the present-day Age of Global Apartheid.

Throughout the organization’s history, we have worked together to deepen our knowledge and understanding of the Caribbean without limitations as to discipline(s), language(s), culture(s), and location(s). And this year’s conference is no different. The deep historical and cultural connections of many of New Orleans’ residents with the African diaspora and the Caribbean in particular, as well as the present conditions faced by Caribbean descendants in the region, fall well within our association’s intellectual and ethical imperatives.

As program co-chairs we remained committed to the multi-lingual vision of the CSA. Thanks to Committee for Translation and Translingual Exchange, most of our documents have been translated across multiple languages. As a directive from the Executive Council, we have worked to improve our communication with members. We have also worked closely with the Digital Committee to use the various mediums available to widen CSA’s reach.

Putting together this year’s program was challenging on various levels, but we are deeply grateful and thankful for the support of many individuals. We’d like to thank the Program Committee, Lori West, Jennifer Thornton Springer, Nadia Celis and Rosanne Adderley. We especially want to thank Jennifer for being such as wonderful host at Indiana University Purdue University Indiana (IUPUI) for our program committee meeting in February.

We want to thank the past program chairs, in particular, Rhonda Frederick and Terry-Ann Jones, who unselfishly gave of their time to answer program related queries. We also want to thank Colleen Murphy (Director, Women in Global Perspectives), Stephanie Foote (Chair of the Gender and Women Studies Department) and Ronald Bailey (Department Head, African-American Studies), all at the University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign.

On behalf of the entire program committee, we thank you for your patience and good humour during the lead-up to NOLA!

Best regards,

Karen Flynn and Keithley Woolward

CSA 2015 Program Co-Chairs
Bienvenida de los Co-directores del programa de la AEC

Estimados miembros,

Bienvenidos a la Conferencia de la Asociación de Estudios del Caribe 2015! Junto con nuestra programación cultural regular de la AEC, tenemos una variedad de excelentes presentadores, paneles, sesiones plenarias y presentaciones artísticas. Estamos seguros de que habrá una abundancia de momentos ricos, atractivos e informativos en esta reunión histórica. La visión de la presidenta Jan DeCosmo de celebrar los 40 años de existencia de la Asociación de Estudios del Caribe en Nueva Orleans, Luisiana, ha resultado en más de 600 participantes. Es nuestra esperanza que realizar la Conferencia en la ciudad de Nueva Orleans permitirá colaboraciones y amistades nuevas o renovadas, así como un aumento en la membresía.

Mientras la organización celebra su cuadragésimo aniversario, tenemos una oportunidad singular — individualmente y como grupo — para evaluar, celebrar y afirmar nuestro compromiso crítico con el circun-Caribe y su turbulenta historia, diversas localizaciones y múltiples expresiones lingüísticas, culturales y artísticas. Al leer las páginas que siguen, verán el tema de la Conferencia desarrollado en las varias encarnaciones con las que académicos y artistas responden a las ramificaciones de la región del Caribe atrapado en la edad actual del Apartheid Global.

A lo largo de la historia de la organización, hemos trabajado juntos para profundizar nuestro conocimiento y comprensión del Caribe sin limitaciones en cuanto a disciplinas, idomas, culturas y espacios. La conferencia de este año no es diferente en este sentido. Las profundas conexiones históricas y culturales de muchos de los residentes de Nueva Orleans con la diáspora africana y del Caribe en particular, así como las presentes condiciones que enfrentan los descendientes caribeños de la región, encajan dentro los imperativos éticos e intelectuales de nuestra asociación.

Como Co-directores del programa nos unamos al compromiso con la visión multilingüe de la CSA. Gracias al Comité de Traducción e Intercambio Translingüístico (CTET), la mayoría de nuestros documentos han sido traducidos a varios idiomas. Siguiendo una directiva del Consejo Ejecutivo, hemos trabajado para mejorar nuestra comunicación con los miembros. También hemos trabajado estrechamente con el Comité Digital para utilizar los diversos medios disponibles para ampliar el alcance de la AEC.

Organizar el programa de este año fue difícil en varios niveles, pero estamos profundamente agradecidos por el apoyo de muchas personas. Nos gustaría dar las gracias al Comité de programa, Lori West, Jennifer Thornton Springer, Nadia Celis y Rosanne Adderley. Especialmente queremos dar las gracias a Jennifer por ser nuestra gran anfitriona en Indiana University Purdue University Indiana (IUPUI) durante nuestra reunión del Comité de programa en febrero.

Queremos dar las gracias a los antiguos directores de programa, en particular, Rhonda Frederick y Terry-Ann Jones, quienes desinteresadamente donaron su tiempo para responder a las consultas relacionadas con el programa. También queremos dar las gracias a Colleen Murphy (Directora de Mujeres en Perspectivas Globales), Stephanie Foote (Presidente del Departamento de Estudios de Género y Mujeres) y Ronald Bailey (Jefe del Departamento de Estudios Afroamericanos), todos en la Universidad de Illinois, Urbana-Champaign.

En nombre del Comité de programa en su totalidad, les agradecemos su paciencia y buen humor durante el período previo a NOLA!

Saludos cordiales,

Karen Flynn y Keithley Woolward

Bienvenue des coprésidents du programme

Chers membres de l’AEC,

Bienvenue à la Conférence de l’Association des Études Caribéennes 2015 ! Ainsi que notre programmation culturelle traditionnelle de l’AEC, nous avons une gamme d’excellents conférenciers, panneaux, séances plénières, ateliers et des interventions artistiques. Nous sommes confiants qu’il

y aura une abondance de moments riches, engageants et instructifs pour ce moment de rassemblement historique. La vision de Jan DeCosmo d'organiser la conférence annuelle de la quarantième année d’existence de l’AEC à la Nouvelle-Orléans, en Louisiane a suscité plus de 600 participants. C’est notre souhait que l’organisation de la Conférence dans la ville de la Nouvelle-Orléans permettra des collaborations profondes, des amitiés nouvelles et renouvelées et une augmentation d’adhésion à l’association.

Alors que l’organisation célèbre son quarantième anniversaire, nous avons une occasion singulière — individuellement et de manière collective — d’évaluer, célébrer et affirmer notre engagement critique envers la circum-Caraïbe et son histoire mouvementée, ses lieux divers et ses multiples formes linguistiques, culturelles et des expressions artistiques. Lorsque vous lisez les pages suivantes, vous verrez le thème de la conférence développé dans des diverses incarnations résultant de la confrontation des chercheurs et des artistes avec les ramifications de la région de la Caraïbe, pris dans l’ère actuel de l’Apartheid mondial.

Tout au long de l’histoire de l’organisation, nous avons travaillé ensemble afin d’approfondir nos connaissances et notre compréhension des Caraïbes sans limitations quant à la discipline (s), langue (s), culture (s), et lieu (x). Et la Conférence de cette année n’est pas différente. Les liens historiques et culturels profonds de la Nouvelle-Orléans avec la diaspora africaine et la Caraïbe en particulier, ainsi que les présentes conditions rencontrées par les descendants des Caraïbes dans la région, relèvent bien les impératifs intellectuelle et éthique de notre association.

Dans le cadre du travail de coprésidents du programme nous sommes restés fidèle à la vision multilingue de l’AEC. Grace au Comité de traduction et d’échange translinguistique, la plupart de nos documents ont été traduit dans plusieurs langues. Suivant la directive du Conseil exécutif, nous avons taché d’améliorer notre communication avec les membres. Nous avons également travaillé en étroite collaboration avec le Comité numérique afin de promouvoir les différentes plateformes médias disponibles visant l’accroissement d’impact de l’AEC.

Le travail d’organisation du programme de cette année a été difficile à différents niveaux, mais nous sommes profondément reconnaissants du soutien de nombreuses personnes. Nous tenons à remercier le Comité de soutien au programme, Lori West, Jennifer Thornton Springer, Nadia Celis et Rosanne Adderley. Nous tenons particulièrement à remercier Jennifer d’avoir nous accueillir chaleureusement à Indiana Université Purdue University Indiana (IUPUI) pour la réunion du Comité en février.

Nous ne pouvons pas oublier les anciens co-présidents du programme, en particulier, Rhonda Frederick et Terry-Ann Jones, qui ont généreusement donné de leur temps pour répondre à toutes nos questions. Nous tenons également à remercier Colleen Murphy (directrice, Women in Global Perspectives), Stephanie Foote (chef du département Gender and Women Studies Department) et Ronald Bailey (chef de département des études afro-américaines), tout à l’Université de l’Illinois, Urbana-Champaign.

Au nom de l’ensemble du Comité de l’ensemble du programme, nous vous remercions pour votre patience et bonne humeur au cours de la période précédant NOLA !

Avec nos meilleures salutations

MESSAGE FROM THE LOCAL COMMITTEE CHAIR

Supriya Nair

Dear CSA Members and Guests,

Welcome to New Orleans! Byenvini nan Noujlin! Bienvenue à la Nouvelle Orléans! Bienvenido a Nueva Orleans! On behalf of the local universities and our city, I wish you a wonderful 2015 Caribbean Studies Conference, which is celebrating its 40th year. We are honored to be the chosen site and believe that this city, with its rich and complex history, is an appropriate milieu for this milestone conference. As you can see around you, it is not surprising that New Orleans has been referred to as the northernmost rim of the Caribbean (although we understand that Miami, parts of London, New York, and Toronto are also pieces of this diasporic chart).

While the city’s Indigenous, European, Creole, and black diasporic roots are manifested in its cuisine, its chronology, its choreography, its architecture, its rhythms, and its astoundingly mixed cultural practices, its palimpsest of slave markets and its historic role as a hub of the Americas are also visible.

The New Orleans Museum of Art (NOMA) has just hosted Kongo Across the Waters, showcasing more than 160 works of art inspired by the Kongo culture and created in Europe, the Caribbean, and the other Americas. While you are here, The Historic New Orleans Collection (Williams Research Center) in the French Quarter at 410 Chartres Street will exhibit documents related to the domestic slave trade in New Orleans between 1808 and 1865. Admission is free. For details, see http://www.hnoc.org/tag/upcomingexhibitions/.

At the Contemporary Arts Center on 900 Camp Street, you will enjoy two exhibits—En Mas’: Carnival and Performance Art of the Caribbean (curated by Claire Tancons and co-curated by Krista Thompson) and Radcliffe Bailey’s Recent Works. Admission is free for CSA members displaying name tags. If you have missed the pre- and post-conference tours of the Whitney Plantation, which relates the local story of slavery, you might want to visit www.whitneyplantation.com. For a list of city attractions, see http://www.neworleansonline.com/neworleans/attractions/.

There is much else to see in the city with its wealth of museums, restaurants, tour sites, and communities, so comfortable footwear and attire are advised. To make your visit safe and enjoyable, exercise caution and make sensible choices as you would in any major city. Our downpours and our heat can match any tropical city in the Caribbean, so please pack sturdy umbrellas and shoes, sun hats, and sunscreen as you check the weather in advance for the conference days. You would already have received the website information from the New Orleans Visitor and Convention Bureau, which includes a list of restaurants, but here it is again: http://www.neworleanscvb.com/csa/. Here is an interactive site for the French Quarter: http://www.frenchquarter.com/maps/ and a link to the Hilton New Orleans Riverside area, the conference hotel: https://www.google.com/maps/@29.947838,-90.06358,15z. For the St. Charles Streetcar schedule see: http://www.norta.com/Maps-Schedules/System-Map/Line.aspx?ID=12. For round-trip airport-hotel transportation, please see: http://www.airportshuttleneworleans.com/services-rates.html. You can also take a cab at curbside as you exit the airport.

I want to thank administrators and colleagues at my institution and at local universities—Dillard, Louisiana State University (Baton Rouge), Loyola University, University of New Orleans, and Xavier University—for their generous support. Many of them are listed in this program as sponsors individually or through their institutions, programs, and departments. A special shout-out to Professors Rosanne Adderley at Tulane University and Shearon Roberts at Xavier as well as to graduate students Cherif Diatta and Laura Mellem from the Stone Center for Latin American Studies at Tulane University. I am grateful to Professor Michael Kuczenski, chair of the English department at Tulane University, for offering administrative support and to Barbara Ryan in the English department for providing it. My thanks also to Sue Ingles at the Stone Center for useful tips and to the many volunteers, undergraduate and graduate students, and faculty who have all helped with local arrangements. There were no fences, boundaries or borders for me to navigate with these wonderful people. Please do not hesitate to call on the CSA volunteers you will see at the conference hotel for more information. Have a great conference!

Estimados miembros e invitados de la AEC,

Welcome to New Orleans! Byvenvini nan Nouòlin! Bienvenue à la Nouvelle Orléans! Bienvenidos a Nueva Orleans! En nombre de las universidades locales y nuestra ciudad, les deseamos una maravillosa Conferencia de la Asociación de Estudios del Caribe 2015, que celebra sus 40 años. Nos sentimos honrados de ser el lugar escogido y creemos que esta ciudad, con su historia rica y compleja, es un medio apropiado para esta Conferencia crucial. Como pueden ver a su alrededor, no resulta sorprendente que Nueva Orleans haya sido llamada la frontera norte del Caribe (aunque entendemos que Miami, partes de Londres, Nueva York y Toronto son también piezas de este mapa diaspórico).

Mientras las raíces indígenas, europeas, criollas y de la diáspora negra se manifiestan en su gastronomía, su cronología, sus coreografías, su arquitectura, sus ritmos y sus prácticas culturales asombrosamente mixtas, también son visibles su palimpsesto de mercados de esclavos y su papel histórico como un ombligo de las Américas.

El Museo de arte de Nueva Orleans (NOMA) acaba de ser anfitrión de "Congo a través de las aguas", mostrando más de 160 obras de arte inspiradas en la cultura del Congo creadas en Europa, el Caribe y las Américas. Durante su estancia, la colección histórica de Nueva Orleans (Williams Research Center) en el Barrio Francés (410 de Charles Street) exhibirá documentos relacionados con el comercio de esclavos doméstico en Nueva Orleans entre 1808 y 1865. La entrada es gratuita; para mayor información pueden consultar: http://www.hnoc.org/tag/upcomingexhibitions/.

En el Centro de Arte Contemporáneo (900 Camp Street), podrán disfrutar de dos exposiciones —En Mas: El carnaval y las artes escénicas del Caribe (curada por Claire Tancons y co-curada por Krista Thompson) y Obras recientes de Radcliffe Bailey. Entrada gratis para miembros CSA que muestran etiquetas. Si se pierden los tours previos y posteriores a la Conferencia a la Whitney Plantation, que relata la historia local de la esclavitud, tal vez quieran visitar www.whitneyplantation.com. Para una lista de atracciones de la ciudad, consulten http://www.neworleansonline.com/neworleans/attractions/

Quiero dar las gracias a los administradores y colegas de mi institución y las universidades locales—Dillard, Louisiana State University (Baton Rouge), Loyola University, la Universidad de Nueva Orleans y Xavier University—por su generoso apoyo. Muchos de ellos figuran en este programa como patrocinadores individuales o a través de sus instituciones, programas y departamentos. Un especial aplauso a las profesoras Rosanne Adederley en la Universidad de Tulane y Shearon Roberts en Xavier, así como a los estudiantes graduados Cherif Diatta y Laura Mellem del Centro Stone de Estudios Latinoamericanos en la Universidad de Tulane. Estoy agradecida al profesor Michael Kuczynski, Presidente del Departamento de Inglés de la Universidad de Tulane, por ofrecer apoyo administrativo y Barbara Ryan en el Departamento de inglés por proporcionarlo. Mi agradecimiento también a Sue Ingles en el Centro Stone por sus consejos útiles, y a los muchos voluntarios, estudiantes de pregrado y de posgrado, que han ayudado con los arreglos locales. No ha habido cercas, límites ni fronteras para mí navegando con gente tan maravillosa. Por favor, no duden en llamar a los voluntarios de la AEC que verán en el hotel de la conferencia para obtener más información.

Que tengan una gran conferencia!

MESSAGE FROM THE LOCAL COMMITTEE CHAIR (cont.)

Français

Chers membres et invités de l’AEC,

Welcome to New Orleans! Byenvini nan Nouvlin! Bienvenue à la Nouvelle Orléans ! Bienvenido a Nueva Orleans ! Au nom des universités locales et notre ville, je vous souhaite une merveilleuse conférence 2015 de l’AEC, qui célèbre son quarantième anniversaire. Nous sommes honorés et très fiers d’avoir été le site choisi et nous croyons que notre ville, avec son histoire riche et complexe, est un cadre approprié pour cette conférence historique. Comme vous pouvez voir autour de vous, il n’est pas surprenant que la Nouvelle-Orléans a été dénommée la côte la plus au nord de la Caraïbe (même si nous comprenons que Miami, Londres, New York et Toronto font parties des morceaux de cette diaspora graphique).

Alors que les racines indigènes, européenne, créole et de la diaspora noire se manifestent dans sa cuisine, sa chronologie, ses chorégraphies, son architecture, ses rythmes et ses pratiques culturelles incroyablement mixtes, son palimpseste de marchés d’esclaves et de son rôle historique comme une plaque tournante d’échanges à travers des Amériques sont aussi visibles.

Le Musée d’art de la Nouvelle-Orléans (NOMA) a accueilli tout récemment l’exposition Kongo à travers les eaux, mettant en vedette plus de 160 œuvres d’art inspiré par la culture du Kongo créé en Europe, la Caraïbe et les autres Amériques. Pendant que vous êtes ici, la collection historique de la Nouvelle Orléans (William Research Center) dans le quartier Français au 410 rue de Chartres exposer des documents liés à la traite négrière domestique en Nouvelle-Orléans entre 1808 et 1865. L’entrée est gratuite. Pour plus de détails, voir http://www.hnoc.org/tag/upcomingexhibitions/.

Je tiens à remercier les administrateurs et les collègues de mon institution et dans les autres universités locales—Dillard, Louisiana State University (Baton Rouge), LoyolaUniversity, Université de la Nouvelle-Orléans et Xavier Université—for leur soutien généreux. Beaucoup d’entre eux sont répertoriés dans ce programme comme sponsor, soit individuellement ou par l’intermédiaire de leurs institutions, programmes et départements. Un grand merci à RosanneAdderley professeurs à l’Université de Tulane et Shearon Roberts à Xavier Université aussi bien à des étudiants gradués Cherif Diatta et Laura Mellem du Stone Center for LatinAmerican Studies à l’Université de Tulane. Je suis reconnaissant au professeur Michael Kucynski, chef du département de langue anglaise à l’Université de Tulane, pour son soutien administratif et à Barbara Ryan dans le département qui en était sa manifestation concrète. Je remercie également Sue Ingle au Stone Center pour ses conseils utiles et aux nombreux bénévoles, d’étudiants du premier cycle et deuxième cycles et les membres de faculté qui ont aidé avec des arrangements locaux. Il n’y a pas de clôtures, limites ou frontières à naviguer pour moi avec ces gens merveilleux. N’hésitez pas de faire appel aux bénévoles que vous verrez à l’hôtel de Hilton pendant la conférence pour plus d’informations.

En vous souhaitant une conférence formidable !

MESSAGE FROM THE COMMITTEE FOR TRANSLATION AND TRANSLINGUAL EXCHANGE

Dear CSA members,

As our efforts to make of the Caribbean Studies Association a truly trans-lingual organization continue, we are happy to announce that the former Translingual Working Group is now a permanent committee: Committee for Translation and Translingual Exchange. Our tasks include coordinating professional interpretation services at the annual conferences, among other tasks you can see in this link: http://www.caribbeanstudiesassociation.org/ctet

This year as last, we furthered our commitment to grouping papers in multilingual panels to facilitate exchange among our members form all linguistic constituencies.

Please join us in thanking Prof. Lisbeth Philips from Loyola University, and her team of volunteers, who will be providing interpretation from Spanish to English and English to Spanish. In order to facilitate their task, PLEASE remember to send your papers in advance to ncelis@bowdoin.edu.

Best regards,

The CTTE

Bienvenida del Comité para Traducción e Intercambio Translingüístico

Apreciados miembros de la AEC,

Continuando con nuestros esfuerzos por hacer de la Asociación de Estudios del Caribe una organización realmente trans-lingüística, nos alegra anunciar que nuestro antiguo Grupo de trabajo es ahora un comité permanente: el Comité para Traducción e Intercambio Translingüístico. Nuestras tareas incluyen coordinar los servicios de intepretación profesional en las conferencias anuales, entre otras responsabilidades que pueden encontrar en el siguiente enlace: http://www.caribbeanstudiesassociation.org/ctet

En este año, como en el anterior, continuamos comprometidos con agrupar ponencias en paneles multilingües que faciliten el intercambio entre colegas de todos los orígenes lingüísticos representados en la Asociación.

Acompañenlos en nuestro agradecimiento a la Dra. Lisbeth Philip, de la Universidad de Loyola, y a su equipo de voluntarios, quienes estarán a cargo de los servicios de interpretación del español al inglés y viceversa. Para facilitar su tarea, recuerden enviar sus ponencias cuanto antes a ncelis@bowdoin.edu.

Saludos cordiales,

El CTTE

Bienvenu du Comité pour Traduction et Échange Translinguistique

Appréciés des membres de l’AEC,

Continuant avec nos efforts pour faire de l’Association d’Études des Caraïbes une organisation réellement trans-linguistique, nous réjouis de annoncer que notre passé Groupe de Travail est actuellement un comité permanent : le Comité pour Traduction et Échange Translinguistique. Nos tâches incluent coordonner les services d’interprétation professionnel dans les conférences annuelles, entre d’autres responsabilités qui peuvent trouver dans la liaison suivante: http://www.caribbeanstudiesassociation.org/ctet

Durant cette année, comme dans ce qui est précédent, nous avons poursuivi notre engagement de regroupement des panneaux multilingues qui facilitent l’échange entre des collègues de toutes les origines linguistiques représentées dans l’Association. S’il vous plaît joindre à nous pour remercier à la Dra. Lisbeth Philips, de l’Université de Loyola, et à son équipe de volontaires, ceux qui seront à charge des services d’interprétation de l’Espagnol à l’Anglais et vice versa. Pour fournir sa tâche, rappellent d’envoyer leurs rapports dès que possible à ncelis@bowdoin.edu.

Sincères salutations,

Le CTTE
A Caribbean Studies Association member for 35 years, Professor Hilbourne Watson is Emeritus of International Relations at Bucknell University. Watson attended his first CSA conference in Castries, St. Lucia in 1976. He joined the organization officially in 1979 when it met in Martinique. Since then, he attended CSA every year until 2002 when it was held in the Bahamas. Missing a few more years, he returned to the conference in 2006 when it was held in Trinidad. Although Watson missed the next year’s conference in Salvador da Bahia, Brazil, he has not missed one since then.

Watson was elected to the CSA Executive Council in 1988 and was re-elected each subsequent term through 1993. He served as vice president in 1992-93 (Jamaica), president in 1993-94 (Merida), and as immediate past president in 1994-95.

Graduating from Howard University with a graduate degree, Watson went on to teach in the Department of Political Science from 1973 to 1994. He served as chair of the department from 1986 to 1990. Watson was also acting chair of the Department of International Relations at Bucknell University from 2011 to 2012. For several years, he served as Examiner in International Relations for the Institute of International Relations at the University of the West Indies, St. Augustine, Trinidad.

Until his retirement in 2013, Watson taught the Modern World System (Foundation Seminar); Theories of International Relations; Seminar in International Relations: Global Restructuring; Race, Nation-State & International Relations; and International Relations, Caribbean. He specialized in areas within international political economy, international relations, and political theory.

Perhaps his most important accolade comes from “Rate My Professors.com” where a student wrote, “Watson is probably the smartest man I know. I’ve had him for several classes over the years and he continues to make me think in new ways. I have definitely learned more in class with Watson that can be applied outside of Bucknell than any other professor. He’s tough, but I highly recommend him. It’s worth it.”

FILM DESCRIPTIONS

Dismantling Barriers – Questioning Disability (Jean Antoine-Dunne, 40 mins)
This film is a documentary on the lives of persons who have different conditions including autism and Down syndrome; persons who are blind and visually impaired; members of the Deaf community and persons with cerebral palsy. It also looks at attitudes to mental disorders including bipolarity, in Trinidad and Tobago.

Some Feet, My Foot (Fabienne Kanor, 26 mins)
This short documentary was made in 2009 following the filmmaker’s travels in Africa and Europe. Themes include the loss of identity of a French Black woman who is a descendant of people who have experienced immigration, non-integration, and "disintegration." Another theme evokes the destiny of undocumented migrant Senegalese people, some of which the film documents. The filmmaker’s own feet are the main characters of this film. The film follows them where they used to be: the house of her parents, school, and the town where she grew up.

The Price of Memory (Karen Marks Mafundikwa, 83 mins)
It’s 2002 and Queen Elizabeth II visits Jamaica for her Golden Jubilee Celebrations. While there, she is petitioned by a small group of Rastafari for slavery reparations. For Rastafari, reparations are linked to a desire to return to Africa, the homeland of their African ancestors who were enslaved in Jamaica during British colonial rule. The film traces this petition, as well as a reparations lawsuit against the Queen. We follow Ras Lion, a mystic Rasta farmer who petitioned the Queen, and Michael Lorne, the attorney who brought the lawsuit. In the background are the stories of earlier Rastas who pursued reparations in the 1960s, and who undertook an historic mission to Africa to organize official repatriation. The film explores the impact of slavery on independent Jamaica, following the filmmaker on a journey, during which the question of reparations reaches Parliament in both Jamaica and the UK. Filmed over a decade, The Price of Memory is a compelling exploration of the enduring legacies of slavery and the case for reparations.

The Glamour Boyz Again: The Mighty Sparrow and Lord Superior on the Hilton Rooftop (Geoffrey Dunn, 60 mins)
This documentary film features a remarkable acoustic performance by two of Calypso’s most venerated figures, The Mighty Sparrow and Lord Superior, which was filmed during the production of Calypso Dreams in 2002 atop the rooftop of the Hilton Hotel overlooking Port of Spain. The film includes intimate reminiscences by both Sparrow and Superior, whose friendship dates back 60 years, to the mid-1950s. Sparrow’s execution, with Supie playing an accompanying guitar and singing back-up vocals, is arguably his best rendered acoustic performance ever recorded. Supie is also brilliant in his own renditions of his early songs as well. Together they take us back to a time, both musical and political, prior to T&T’s independence, that is no more.

Yurumein Homeland: The Caribs of St. Vincent (Andrea Leland, 50 mins)
Yurumein is an important untold story of Carib/Garifuna resistance against slavery that deserves its place in the annals of the African Diaspora. The film recounts the painful past of the Caribs on St Vincent and the extermination of scores of their ancestors at the hands of the British, while building an intimate portrait of Garifuna culture in-transition today. We are given firsthand accounts from both Carib descendants who remain on the island of St Vincent and voices of returning descendants whose ancestors were exiled to Central America, where Garifuna traditional culture was able to survive and flourish.

Behind these Bars I am Serving my Sentence/derriere ces barreaux je purge ma peine and totalitaire conscience avortée - champs je mens/Totalitarims, Avorted Consciouness & Chang-ings, Changes and Lies (Habdaphai Alerte, 2 mins and 4 mins, respectively)
Video performance against the strike of february 2009 in Martinique

I need to express my rage otherwise I suffocate
we are simply irresponsible people always looking elsewhere the scapegoat for our misfortunes strike of February 5 was legitimate because it touched the problems of high cost of living but as it became the collective February 5 it changed itself into a social movement cutting all forms of basic freedom like many this dictatorial crisis prevented me from working and cut my freedom to come and go

Too White to be Black, too Black to be White: The New Orleans Creole (Maurice Martinez, 60 mins)
This documentary provides first-hand accounts of New Orleans citizens who identify themselves as Creoles. The Creole stories speak to the social history of the United States when the fruits of the American dream were rewarded to those with light skin and "good hair." Often Creoles were forced to give up their "gens de couleur" (colored people) identity to assimilate into white America. The process of "becoming productive American" has been fraught with both rejection and racism for Creoles of color. This is their story.

Elza (Le Bonheur D’ Elza) (Mariette Monpierre, 80 mins)
Elza’s mother Bernadette has tried hard to give her daughter everything. She is thrilled when Elza, the first college graduate in the family, completes her master's degree. But Elza breaks her mother’s heart by running off to their native Guadeloupe in search of a distant childhood memory: the father she barely remembers. Based on director Mariette Monpierre’s own life experience, this feature debut captures the passion and contradictions of a family in transition while offering a rare insider’s view of Caribbean culture. This film is in French with English subtitles.

Edouard Glissant: One World in Relation (Manthia Diawara, 50 mins)
In 2009, Manthia Diawara, with his camera, followed Edouard Glissant on the Queen Mary II in a cross-Atlantic journey from South Hampton (UK) to Brooklyn (New York). This poetic meditation continued in Martinique, the native home of Edouard Glissant. The extraordinary voyages resulted in the production of an intellectual biography in which Glissant elaborates on his theory of Relation and the concept of “Tout-monde.”

Edouard Glissant was one of the most important contemporary thinkers. In the 1980s, his theories of creolization, diversity and otherness, as elaborated in the book "Le Discours Antillais" (1981), were considered as seminal texts for the emerging studies of multiculturalism, identity politics, minority literature and Black Atlanticism.

Big Chief: Exploring the Racialized Legacy of New Orleans Performance Cultures (Sascha Just, 30 mins)
Every year on Carnival Day, Black Indians parade the streets of New Orleans in magnificent feathered and beaded costumes to honor those Native Americans who aided their African ancestors in their escape from slavery. BIG CHIEF follows legendary Chief Darryl Montana as he prepares for Mardi Gras Day—and explores the heritage of racist oppression that sparked those spectacular performances.

Ek Balam: de la milpa al turismo/ Ek Balam: From the Fields to Ecological Tourism (Samuel Jouault and Diana Rodriguez, 25 mins)
Este video documental presenta la turistificación de una comunidad rural desde que 26 ejidatarios de Xcuml decidieron asentarse con sus familias en un terreno cercano a la zona arqueológica de Ek Balam hasta la creación de la sociedad cooperativa turística U Najil Ek Balam operada hoy día por 13 ejidatarios asociados; contando las dificultades que pasaron a lo largo de los años debido a las barreras que tenían como la falta de educación, el hecho de sólo hablar maya, entre otras cosas. A pesar de todo, esta empresa social con respaldo de dependencias federales como la Comisión Nacional Forestal, la Comisión por el Desarrollo de los Pueblos Indígenas, de organizaciones de la Sociedad Civil ha logrado posicionarse a escala global como un sitio de turismo rural aprovechando de sus tradiciones como recurso turístico.

City on a Hill (Patricia Mohammed and Michael Mooledhar, 50 mins)
This film explores the intangible connections between landscape, history and creativity, placing the people of Laventille at the center of an artistic ferment that fed and continues to inject the cultural bloodstream of the Port of Spain, Trinidad and the wider society. It is the story of cultural survivals and innovation that emerged from the urban wasteland once settled by runaways, the destitute and freed slaves. This documentary film captures the built and cultural heritage of East Port Of Spain making connections between history, religion and landscape.

Bananas Don’t Grow on Trees: Making Money in a Dominican Banana Batey/
Los guineos no crecen en árboles: Buscando la vida en un batey bananero dominicano (Kimberly Wynne, 22 mins)
Filmed and edited during a year of ethnographic fieldwork, this short film presents a portrait of one of several small banana-growing communities, known as bateyes, in the Dominican Republic near the border with Haiti. The communities were built by the United Fruit Company in the 1940s and 1950s to house a Dominican labor force. The United Fruit Company pulled out of the region in 1966 and the plantations surrounding the company housing were divided into small farms currently owned and operated by Dominican farmers who have formed Fairtrade banana-growing cooperatives. The bateyes are now shared by Dominican residents and undocumented Haitian migrants who rely on each other for economic gain. Dominican farmers and shopkeepers depend on the labor and residence of Haitian migrant workers who arrive on the banana farms seeking a way to support themselves and their families. In the film, Dominican and Haitian residents talk about their work on the surrounding banana farms and discuss everyday life in the batey. In doing so, they shed light on the economic forces that bring Haitians to the Dominican Republic for a job that brings bananas to European supermarkets.

Alberto’s Memories of Crossing Borders: Guantanamo, Cuba (Amanda Concha-Holmes, 45 mins)
In this film, Alberto Jones, an Afro-Cuban of Antillean descent intimately expresses his experiences of traversing borders. Through articulating some of the multiple geographic and symbolic frontiers he has crossed throughout his life’s trajectory, he reflects on his daily journeys across the fenced border that separated the US Military Base from his Cuban home and family. Through his testimony, we are allowed insight into the intersections of personal and collective identity formation as he recounts his crossings from his Cuban community immersed in the “effervescence” of political revolution to the militarized zone and “highly segregated” space of GTMO and the exclusions and discrimination that entailed.
The Shadow of Color/Sombra di Koló (Angela E. Roe, 72 mins)
What do race and skin color mean in Curaçao today? Has racism waned? Or has it morphed from an explicit to a more covert system? Mixed-race anthropologist Angela Roe goes looking for answers. On her road trip across the island thirty people from five neighborhoods, very diverse in race and class composition, share their experiences with race and skin color. The Shadow of Color arose from Roe’s personal story. Being the darkest sibling in the household, her mother left Curaçao first chance she got. At sixteen she fled to the Netherlands to escape the burden of her brown skin, and to reinvent herself anew. Roe follows her mother’s footsteps back to the island, to find out what happened to her, and to explore the racial dynamics of Curaçao’s post-colonial society.

Cimarrón Spirit (Rubén Durán, 50 mins)
Since the early 16th century, African slaves fled the Spanish plantations of what is today the Dominican Republic and Haiti. Escaping into hiding in the mountainous jungles, they created independent communities. Cimarrón communities of the Dominican Republic today maintain their own customs and traditions, which are rich with magic, fantasy and popular religiosity. The documentary film, "Cimarrón Spirit" follows the culturally syncretic celebrations of the cimarrón people during holy week and offers a window into the complexity of Dominican identity and culture today. The cimarrón carnival captured in the film is a cultural performance of the creolization of identity that reflects the creativity of a people whose history is deeply rooted in Africa. “Cimarrón Spirit” examines what aspects of Dominican history are being preserved, remembered and retold, and tackles issues of cultural equity, anti-blackness, and the borders of identity on the island of Hispaniola today.

Grenada: Colonialism and Conflict (Valerie Scoon, 45 mins)
A chronicle of the philosophical and sometimes bloody struggles Grenadians have waged against colonialism and its long-lasting psychological influences. Grenadian leaders fought against colonialism in different ways. Julian Fedon freed 100 slaves to fight the British. Eric Gairy led the poor people in a massive strike and obtained many improvements for them. Maurice Bishop led a successful coup against Eric Gairy in 1979, promising education and societal reform. History tells the tale, however, that even as Grenadian leaders have struck blows at colonialism, they have at times employed the tools of oppression taught to them by their colonial masters.

Moderator: Faith Smith, Brandeis University
PLENARY SPEAKERS

LaVerne Wells-Bowie

LaVerne Wells-Bowie is a senior professor in the School of Architecture and Engineering Technology at Florida A&M University. Her research and teaching focuses on the significance of cultural conservation within patterns of development and approaches to sustainability. Archetypes commonly found in African inspired communities of the black Atlantic are especially engaged in her scholarship and creative work. Her emphasis on correlations among cultural and built environments has involved onsite teaching in the Gullah Sea Islands, Jamaica, Sint Maarten, Saint Martin and Cuba. She has lectured, exhibited and published internationally. Grants and awards have included National Endowment for the Humanities and National Endowment for the Arts Awards, Fulbright and McKnight Fellowships and the McKel Endowed Chair in the School of Architecture at Clemson University. Professor Wells-Bowie earned her graduate degree in Architecture at the University of California, Berkeley and undergraduate degree in Fine Arts at California College of the Arts.

Mora J. Beauchamp-Byrd

Mora J. Beauchamp-Byrd is a Visiting Assistant Professor in the Department of Art, Art History and Visual Studies at Duke University. An art historian, curator, and arts administrator, she has most recently served as Interim Executive Director at the New Orleans African American Museum of Art, Culture and History (NOAAAM). From 2008 through 2013, she served as Assistant Professor of Art History, Department of Art, and Curator of University Art Collections at Xavier University of Louisiana. Prior to that, she was Assistant Professor of Museum Studies at Southern University at New Orleans. From 2005 through 2007, she was Assistant Director for Mellon Initiatives in the Research and Academic Program (RAP) at The Sterling and Francine Clark Art Institute in Williamstown, MA. Prior to that position, she was Director and Curator of the Visual Arts Department at the Amistad Research Center, Tulane University in New Orleans, La. from June 1999 through July of 2001.

Richard Sexton

Photographer Richard Sexton has been intrigued by this Creole world since he first traveled to Central and South America as a young man. For him, the architectural and urban similarities among Creole cities compose a visual theme supported by endless variations, both grand and humble, old and new, carefully curated and wonderfully slapdash. Along with authors Jay D. Edwards and John H. Lawrence, Sexton published Creole World: Photographs of New Orleans and the Latin Caribbean Sphere (The Historic New Orleans Collection, 2014). With more than two hundred stunning full-color photographs of Cuba, Ecuador, Argentina, Bolivia, and Haiti, as well as New Orleans, Sexton gives readers a taste of everything the Creole world has to offer. A special exhibition of these photographs was mounted for the conference and is available for viewing throughout the week.

Faith Smith

Faith Smith’s research focuses on the cultural production and intellectual history of the Caribbean and the African Diaspora. Her interests include feminist engagements with the state, and the aesthetic strategies of postcolonial novelists and artists contending with the legacies of slavery and indentureship in the contexts of colonialism, nationalism and globalization. She published Creole Recitations: John Jacob Thomas and Colonial Formation in the Late 19th-Century Caribbean (2002), and the edited collection Sex and the Citizen: Interrogating the Caribbean (2011). Her manuscript “Whose Modern? Forging Futures in the Trans-Caribbean, 1900-1915,” examines Caribbean discourses of the future in the wake of the “Spanish American” and Boer Wars and just before the beginning of the First World War. As the region’s people measured their particular European empire against the growing imperial interests of the USA, their novels’ silences and fantastical resolutions, their complex responses to the era’s faith in photography, and their attempts to respond to the devastation of earthquakes and vagrancy laws, offer us a rich account of modernity. She teaches at Brandeis University in Massachusetts, USA.

John Cowles Professor of Sociology, Harvard University
KEYNOTE ADDRESS AND RECEPTION - MONDAY EVENING

Monday, Opening Ceremony and Reception, 7:30 pm

Keynote Address - River Room

CSA is pleased to announce historical and cultural sociologist, Orlando Patterson, as the keynote speaker for the 40th Conference in New Orleans, Louisiana. Presently John Cowles Professor of Sociology at Harvard University in Cambridge, Massachusetts, this Jamaican-born scholar has held faculty positions at his alma mater (the University of the West Indies, Mona campus in Kingston), the London School of Economics and, from 1972 to 1979, served as special advisor to Michael Manley, Prime Minister of Jamaica. Coming from the perspective of the British New Left and Caribbean neo-Marxists, his academic works have spanned the areas of slavery and ethno-racial relations, the cultural sociology of poverty and underdevelopment and its impact on the Caribbean. He has written award-winning fiction, including two novels that have recently been reissued: The Children of Sisyphus (one of the first portraits of Rastafari published in 1982) and An Absence of Ruins. His latest effort is a book about disadvantaged African-American youth and poverty in America that aims to show the dynamic of how culture interacts with structure (due out shortly).

Reception (Mark Twain Courtyard)

Join us outdoors as we gather to share light hors d’oeuvres and beverages (cash bar available) and dance to the music of eclectic New Orleans jazz band, The Roamin’ Jasmine, accompanied by our own pan man from Trinidad, Derron Ellies.

About Derron Ellies: As musical director and lead pannist of Trinidad and Tobago’s Rhapsody NG (facebook.com/GhostMan868), Ellies began his musical training in May of 1993 under the tutelage of Cedric Urquhart, Clint Mahon and Marcus Baptiste at the Manzanilla Police Youth Club. He showed rapid development in both music theory and practice, displaying a love for the steelpan, Trinidad and Tobago’s national instrument. In 1995 he started secondary education at Queen’s Royal College, joining the QRC Scouts and its resident Band. In the following seven years of College life, his strengths in reading, writing and performing music grew, and he has represented the College at many events. Since then, he has added a Certificate in Music (emphasis on Steelpan) at the Gordon Street campus of UWI St Augustine, and has been performing with many bands including popular parang group Los Tocadores, rock sensation Orange Sky, young jazz band Blue Culture of which he was a founding member, and most recently Rhapsody Next Generation, a crew of musicians dedicated to promoting the P.H.I. (Percussive Harmonic Instrument) and steelpan to the public of Trinidad & Tobago and the world.

About Roamin’ Jasmine: “Forged out of the lively street music scene in the French Quarter of New Orleans, the members of the Roamin’ Jasmine found one another busking under the swampy Louisiana sun, along the banks of the Mississippi, or after hours in storefronts on Royal, Frenchmen and Decatur Streets. Inspired by the city’s history of ethnic and musical diversity, bassist, vocalist, and bandleader Taylor Smith began to collect some of his favorite old blues, jazz, and country tunes, while also composing some of his own songs. Arranging this collection for a six-piece jazz ensemble and giving them a healthy dose of New Orleans flavor, he decided to share his work with some like-minded colleagues, and bring it to the streets of New Orleans. The Roamin’ Jasmine repertoire explores 1920s era speakeasy blues, vintage Calypso from Trinidad, seminal 1950s New Orleans Rhythm & Blues, and original compositions, all set to traditional jazz instrumentation with original arrangements. Through polyphonic collective improvisation inherent in their new homeland of New Orleans, the Roamin’ Jasmine hold true to a great New Orleans jazz tradition while participating in its evolution with undertones of different eras and places.” (www.roaminjasmine.com/about/)

PLENARY - TUESDAY MORNING

Tuesday, May 26, 2015

SESSION - FILM PLENARY, 9:40-11:10 am

The Price of Memory (2014), directed by Karen Mafundikwa

Chair: Deborah Thomas, University of Pennsylvania

Speaker: Karen Mafundikwa

PLENARY SPEAKERS

Karen Mafundikwa

Karen Marks Mafundikwa is a Jamaican filmmaker and the director, producer and writer of The Price of Memory. Previously, she produced and co-wrote documentary feature film Shungu: The Resilience of a People following ordinary people in Zimbabwe during economic crisis and political stalemate. Shungu garnered international broadcasts and screened on three continents including premieres at IDFA and BFI London Film Festival; winner of the Ousmane Sembene Award at Zanzibar Film Festival 2010 and Best Documentary, Kenya International Film Festival 2010. She has a BA in Broadcast Journalism from New York University and MSc in International Development from Tulane University School of Law. She is currently at work on her next documentary feature film which is about the legalization of marijuana in Jamaica.

Deborah Thomas

Deborah A. Thomas is Professor of Anthropology and Africana Studies at the University of Pennsylvania. Prior to her appointment at Penn, she spent two years as a Mellon Post-Doctoral Fellow at the Center for the Americas at Wesleyan University, and four years in the Department of Cultural Anthropology at Duke University. She is the author of Exceptional Violence: Embodied Citizenship in Transnational Jamaica, Modern Blackness: Nationalism, Globalization, and The Politics of Culture in Jamaica. She was editor of the journal Transforming Anthropology from 2007-2010. She was a member of the Executive Council for the Caribbean Studies Association from 2008-2011, and is currently Secretary of the Society for Cultural Anthropology.

The Price of Memory - Film Synopsis (the film may be previewed on Monday from 2:30-3:55 pm and again on Tuesday at 8:00-9:30 am in the Kabakoff Room)

It’s 2002 and Queen Elizabeth II visits Jamaica for her Golden Jubilee Celebrations. While there, she is petitioned by a small group of Rastafari for slavery reparations. For Rastafari, reparations are linked to a desire to return to Africa, the homeland of their African ancestors who were enslaved in Jamaica during British colonial rule. The film traces this petition, as well as a reparations lawsuit against the Queen. We follow Ras Lion, a mystic Rasta farmer who petitioned the Queen, and Michael Lorne, the attorney who brought the lawsuit. In the background are the stories of earlier Rastas who pursued reparations in the 1960s, and who undertook an historic mission to Africa to organize official repatriation. The film explores the impact of slavery on independent Jamaica, following the filmmaker on a journey, during which the question of reparations reaches Parliament in both Jamaica and the UK. Filmed over a decade, The Price of Memory is a compelling exploration of the enduring legacies of slavery and the case for reparations.

If you miss them, you can take the picturesque but slow streetcar (which can be caught further down from Canal Street at Carondelet, $1.25 exact change) or a faster cab to Tulane University Uptown campus.

ROUND TABLE SPEAKERS

Freddi Williams Evans

Freddi Williams Evans is an independent scholar and author of Congo Square: African Roots in New Orleans, the first comprehensive study of the historic site and recipient of the 2012 Louisiana Endowment for the Humanities Book of the Year Award. Her research and advocacy influenced the New Orleans City Council to pass an ordinance in 2012 that made the popular name “Congo Square” the official name of the national landmark. Her numerous engagements include presentations in France and Senegal as well as Fulbright programs in Zimbabwe, South Africa and Japan. Evans is also an award-winning author of three historically based children’s books, a New Orleans Arts Council Community Arts Award recipient, and a Mardi Gras Indian Hall of Fame honoree.

Supriya Nair

Supriya Nair is a Professor at the Department of English and a faculty affiliate of the programs in Latin American and Caribbean Studies, African and African Diaspora Studies, and Gender and Sexuality Studies. She is the author of Caliban’s Curse: George Lamming and The Revisioning of History (Michigan, 1996). Her recent book, Pathologies of Paradise: Caribbean Detours (University of Virginia Press, 2013), won the Nicolás Guillén award for Outstanding Book in Philosophical Literature from the Caribbean Philosophical Association. She is co-editor of Postcolonialisms: An Anthology of Cultural Theory and Criticism (Rutgers, 2005) and editor of Teaching Anglophone Caribbean Literature (MLA Options For Teaching, 2012).
Angel Parham
Angel Adams Parham is associate professor of sociology at Loyola University in New Orleans. Her research focuses on the movement of people and ideas between the Caribbean and the U.S. South, with a particular interest in Haiti. Her current monograph in progress is called “American Routes: Louisiana’s Past as Prologue to America’s Present.” This work traces the long-term social and cultural impact of the Haitian Revolution and its resulting flow of refugees to southern Louisiana.

Matt Sakakeeny
Matt Sakakeeny is an ethnomusicologist and Associate Professor of Music at Tulane University. He is author of Roll With It: Brass Bands in the Streets of New Orleans and co-editor of Keywords in Sound, both from Duke University Press. Matt has lived in New Orleans since 1997.

Keith Sandiford
Keith Sandiford is Robert Penn Warren Distinguished Professor in the English Department at Louisiana State University. His primary training is in Eighteenth-Century British Literature; his research, publication and teaching combine the canonical texts of that field together with others in colonial Caribbean literatures, antislavery, Atlantic Studies, and African American literature. In 2012 he was honored by the Caribbean Philosophical Association with the prestigious Frantz Fanon Award for Lifetime Achievement, with a specific citation for his contribution to Africana Studies. His most recent book is Theorizing a Colonial Caribbean-Atlantic Imaginary: Sugar and Obeah (Routledge 2011).

Chair: Guadalupe Garcia, Department of History, Tulane University

Emilio Pantojas-García, University of Puerto Rico, Rio Piedras

Milagros Martinez Reinosa, Secretary, Cátedra del Caribe, University of Havana

Indira Rampersad, University of the West Indies, St. Augustine

ROUND TABLE SPEAKERS

Guadalupe García

Guadalupe García is Assistant Professor of History at Tulane University. She specializes in Latin American colonial history with an emphasis on Cuba and the Caribbean. Her research interests include colonial cities and subjects, port cities and security spaces, and contemporary social movements and revolution. García’s book Beyond the Walled City: Colonial Exclusion in Havana will be published by the University of California Press in fall 2015. The book highlights how local conflicts over urban space reveal Caribbean uncertainties over race and illustrates the importance of colonial ideologies in the production of urban space. García is also co-editor (with Lisa Calvente) on a collection entitled Imprints of Revolution: Visual Representations of Resistance.

Emilio Pantojas-García

Emilio Pantojas-García is Senior Researcher at the Center for Social Research and Professor of Sociology at the University of Puerto Rico in Rio Piedras. He served as President of CSA in 2005. He has been Wilbur Marvin Visiting Scholar in the David Rockefeller Center for Latin American Studies and Visiting Lecturer at JFK School of Government, Harvard University, as well as Visiting Scientist at the International Center for Development and Decent Work (ICDD), Universität Kassel, Germany. Most recently, Pantojas-García is author of Governance in the Non-Independent Caribbean (with Peter Clegg, 2009).

Indira Rampersad

Indira Rampersad, having earned a Ph.D. in Political Science, also obtained an LLB from the University of London in 2012. Rampersad has been awarded two Fulbright scholarships for study in the United States, one at the Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, Illinois, to explore the American Political System, the other to undertake her Ph.D. in Political Science at the University of Florida, Gainesville, where she majored in International Relations and minored in Public Policy. Her doctoral dissertation focused on American foreign policy to Cuba on which she has published and presented at many academic and non-academic forums. Her research now extends to Latin American and Caribbean Politics and International Relations, American foreign policy, alternative energy, food security and crime with specific emphasis on the Caribbean. Rampersad is now based at the Department of Political Science at the University of the West Indies, St. Augustine, Trinidad, where she is a Lecturer in Political Science/International Relations.

Milagros Martinez Reinosa

Milagros Martínez Reinosa is Chair of Caribbean Studies (Cátedra de Estudios del Caribe) at the University of Havana, in Cuba.

CULTURE NIGHT - WEDNESDAY EVENING

Wednesday, 6:30 pm - 8:30 pm

Culture Night: “Takin’ It To the Streets”

Take the CSA buses from the Hilton (from 6:00 to 6:45 pm) or grab a cab to the Backstreet Cultural Museum, 1116 Henriette Delille St., New Orleans, LA 70116 (504) 522-4806. View the exhibition ($8 donation) of Mardi Gras Indian memorabilia and costumes in the famous Tremé neighborhood on the outskirts of the French Quarter. At 7 pm join an authentic “Second Line” street parade from Backstreet to the Old U.S. Mint at 400 Esplanade Ave., New Orleans, LA 70116. Mardi Gras Indians, Baby Dolls, Skull & Bones Gang members, and the Tremé Brass Band will lead the way. A pan man from Trinidad will join in. The parade route is just over half a mile, taking 14 minutes to walk and a bit longer to dance. Feel free to bring tambourines or shakers with you or just bring yourself.

At the end of the route at the Mint, you may venture from there further into the French Quarter or to the clubs of Frenchman Street nearby, to hear more of the music that made New Orleans famous. Or you may choose to go into one of the many restaurants that serve gumbo, red beans and rice, couche-couche, yaka-mein, catfish coubillion, Andouille sausage, or crawfish etoufee. And if you haven’t discovered it by now, you simply must go the Café du Monde for some café au lait and beignets (800 Decatur St., open 24 hours). Take a horse & buggy ride, available at Jackson Square (about $15 a person), grab a cab or walk back to the Hilton from there, on the “Moon Walk” along the river.

The Riverfront Streetcar line, only three minutes away at the French Market Station, is $1.25 (correct change only). Go one stop to the Canal Street Station, and walk a block or two to the Hilton.

A FEATURE LITERARY EVENT, 9:40-11:10 am

Introductory Remarks: Yolanda W. Page, Vice President for Academic Affairs, Dillard University

Moderator: Faith Smith, Brandeis University

PLENARY SPEAKERS

Jamaica Kincaid

Jamaica Kincaid was born Elaine Richardson Potter on May 25th 1949 in St. John’s, Antigua. She left for the United States in her teens to work as an au pair and later as a staff writer for the New Yorker magazine, which published her short stories and articles. She went on to write novels, memoirs, and essays that provide lyrical and complex narratives of troubled family relationships and offer bold critiques of Western imperialism as well as of Caribbean life and culture.

Kincaid became very interested in horticulture while living in Vermont and her other works, My Garden (Book) (1998), and Among Flowers: A Walk in the Himalaya (2004), demonstrate her own skills as a gardener even as they reflect on the historical links between colonialism, gardening, and plantation culture. She has won several awards, fellowships, and honorary degrees and is now Professor of African and African American Studies in Residence at Harvard University.

Yolanda W. Page

Yolanda Williams-Page is the Vice President of Academic Affairs at Dillard University. Williams-Page is a native of Shreveport, Louisiana and is a proud graduate of the class of 1991. She served Dillard University in the past as Chair of the English Department and Assistant Dean of Humanities. Before coming to Dillard, she served as the Dean of Arts and Sciences at the University of Arkansas at Pine Bluff, where she was promoted to full professor. Williams-Page is committed to promoting excellence in every study of academia at Dillard University. Additionally, she takes an active role in the Dillard University National Alumni Association and has assisted and chaired several DUNAA programs with the Little Rock, Arkansas Chapter.

Faith Smith

Faith Smith’s research focuses on the cultural production and intellectual history of the Caribbean and the African Diaspora. Her interests include feminist engagements with the state, and the aesthetic strategies of postcolonial novelists and artists contending with the legacies of slavery and indentureship in the contexts of colonialism, nationalism and globalization. She published Creole Recitations: John Jacob Thomas and Colonial Formation in the Late 19th-Century Caribbean (2002), and the edited collection Sex and the Citizen: Interrogating the Caribbean (2011). Her manuscript "Whose Modern? Forging Futures in the Trans-Caribbean, 1900-1915," examines Caribbean discourses of the future in the wake of the "Spanish American" and Boer Wars and just before the beginning of the First World War. As the region’s people measured their particular European empires against the growing imperial interests of the USA, their novels’ silences and fantastical resolutions, their complex responses to the era’s faith in photography, and their attempts to respond to the devastation of earthquakes and vagrancy laws, offer us a rich account of modernity. She teaches at Brandeis University in Massachusetts, USA.

The Exhibition of Caribbean and New Orleans Festival Arts will be open for viewing 7:00-7:30 pm at the Ashé Cultural Center, 1712 Oretha Castle Haley Blvd, New Orleans, LA 70113. The round table will be held from 7:30-8:30 pm, followed by a light reception with music provided by Pan Vibrations and special guest, Derron Ellies, “steel pan whisperer” from Trinidad.

Buses will begin leaving the Hilton Riverside hotel from 6:45 pm until around 7:20 pm and will return to the hotel from 9 pm. If you miss them, you can take a cab.

ROUNDTABLE SPEAKERS

Maryse Déjean

Maryse Déjean is the volunteer coordinator for WWOZ and current host of Wednesday afternoons’ “Jazz from the French Market” from 4-7 pm. A native of Haiti, Maryse moved to New Orleans in the early 1980s and began volunteering at the internationally-known radio station in 1991. She has enriched and preserved the musical heritage of the city ever since as a WWOZ volunteer, staff member, and as host of several programs, including Sunday night’s “What’s New,” the kitchen sink of new releases. Maryse credits veteran WWOZ DJs Gabou Mendy and Gene Scaramuzzo and their “Caribbean African Journey” program as a fountainhead for her favorite musical discoveries, and she was honored to host the program herself in 1992 when Gabou and Gene were away during the summer. She eventually became a regular host of the “Caribbean African Journey.”
ROUND TABLE SPEAKERS - THURSDAY EVENING

Pamela R. Franco

Pamela R. Franco, a native Trinidadian, earned a Ph.D. in Art History from Emory University in Atlanta with a concentration in the Arts of Africa and the African Diaspora. Her pioneering research and scholarship on black Caribbean women’s public performances has paved the way for new analysis of festivals and other street performances. Dr. Franco has given numerous presentations and written several articles on this subject. Her professional experiences include teaching positions in the Art History departments at the University of Illinois at Chicago (1997-2000) and at Tulane University in New Orleans (2000-2008). She has curated exhibitions on African Art at the High Museum and Agnes Scott College in Atlanta. She was a consultant and exhibition assistant on the traveling exhibition, Festival Arts of the Caribbean. Currently, Dr. Franco is an Executive Associate in the Office of Academic Affairs at Xavier University.

Reynold Hicks

Reynold Hicks is a native Trinidadian who migrated to New Orleans in 1978. He established the Pan Vibrations Steelband in 1984 for the New Orleans World’s Fair. The band has been based in New Orleans since that time performing at many venues, fairs and festivals and working with youth in the community. Hicks started playing pan in Trinidad at the young age of nine. He left when he was sixteen and moved to the Virgin Islands where he later was a member of several steelbands, performing on three albums featuring the St. Croix Philharmonic Steelband.

Derrick Hulin

“Big Chief” Derrick Hulin of the Golden Blades has been Chief since 1999. He started masking under the tutelage of the late Big Chief Bo Dollis of the Wild Magnolias as a Flagboy. Chief Derrick has been masking 22 years in total and 16 years as Chief. He currently has a membership of 30 Indians who mask with him; 26 masked this year in 2015. Chief Derrick is truly an artistic innovator in Mardi Gras Indian suit design and construction. His suits have been exhibited at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington D.C. and the Dallas Museum of African American Art and History. He has also conducted Mardi Gras Indian suit design and construction workshops in Dallas and Baton Rouge museums, schools, and public libraries.

Joyce Marie Jackson

Joyce Marie Jackson is Director of African & African American Studies, Professor in the Dept. of Geography & Anthropology, and affiliate faculty of Women’s and Gender Studies at Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge. She earned her Ph.D. from Indiana University, Bloomington in folklore and ethnomusicology. Her key research interests center on African and African diaspora performance-centered studies, sacred and secular rituals, cultural and community sustainability, and women’s agency. Dr. Jackson’s ethnographic work has spanned the areas of gospel music’s changing nature, rural roots of jazz, New Orleans Mardi Gras Indians, Baptist Easter Rock ritual, Trinidadian and Haitian carnivalesque culture and performance identities, and Sénégalese women’s healing rituals. She has served as Interim Director of the Louisiana/Caribbean Studies program and is currently Director of the LSU Academic Program Abroad to Haiti (Jacmel). She has authored many scholarly articles and book chapters, as well as Life in the Village: A Cultural Memory of the Fazendeville Community, curated many exhibits including New Orleans Mardi Gras Indians: Exploring a Community Tradition from an Insider’s View for the Smithsonian Institution and has recently produced a documentary film titled, Easter Rock.

Darryl Montana

Darryl Montana is “Big Chief” of the Yellow Pocahontas Black Indian Tribe and the youngest son of the late Allison “Big Chief Tootie” Montana. Assuming his world-renown father’s role, Darryl has exhibited locally, nationally and internationally. He is a 2012 recipient of the Joan Mitchell Foundation Painters and Sculptors Award and a 2014 United States Artists Glasgow Fellow. He has masked on Mardi Gras Day for more than 40 years and is recognized as a master artisan.

PLENARY SPEAKERS

Bruce “Sunpie” Barnes

Bruce “Sunpie” Barnes combines the musical styles of Blues, Caribbean, Gospel, Funk, Zydeco and West African rhythms. According to the well-known radio station in New Orleans (WWOZ), “Bruce Sunpie Barnes is a veteran musician, park ranger, actor, former high school biology teacher, former college football All-American, and former NFL player (Kansas City Chiefs). Sunpie Barnes’ career has taken him far and wide, and he has traveled the world playing his own style of blues, zydeco and Afro-Louisiana music incorporating Caribbean and African influenced rhythms and melodies. He plays piano, percussion, harmonica, and accordion. He and his group, Sunpie and the Louisiana Sunspots, have recorded five critically acclaimed CDs, many of the songs in Creole French. Sunpie is deeply involved in New Orleans parade culture and takes his music to the streets. He is Second Chief of the North Side Skull and Bone Gang, one of the oldest existing carnival groups in New Orleans, and a member of the Black Men of Labor Social Aid and Pleasure Club.” He calls his music “Bouje Bouje” meaning to move, so it’s tailor-made for dancing.

Jocelyne Guilbault

Jocelyne Guilbault is Professor of Ethnomusicology at the University of California, Berkeley. Since 1980, she has done extensive fieldwork in the French Creole- and English-speaking islands of the Caribbean on both traditional and popular music. She is the author of Zouk: World Music in the West Indies (1993), and Governing Sound: the Cultural Politics of Trinidad’s Carnival Musics (2007). Co-editor of Border Crossings: New Directions in Music Studies (1999-2000), she has since then been on several editorial boards and served as a board member in several academic associations. Her latest book, Roy Cape: A Lifetime on the Calypso and Soca Bandstand (2014), is both a study about reputation, circulation, and work ethics, and a dialogic experiment in story.

Ned Sublette

Ned Sublette is the co-author with Constance Sublette of the forthcoming The American Slave Coast: A History of the Slave-Breeding Industry (Lawrence Hill Books, October 2015). He is the author of The Year Before the Flood (Lawrence Hill Books, 2009); The World That Made New Orleans: From Spanish Silver to Congo Square (Lawrence Hill Books, 2008); and Cuba and Its Music: From the First Drums to the Mambo (Chicago Review Press, 2004). He is also a musician, combining Texas rhythms with those of Cuba. According to AfroCubaWeb.com, Sublette is “one of the most original figures on the New York music scene, and Cowboy Rumba (PALMCD2020-2), his debut solo album on Palm Pictures, is equally, and exquisitely, unique. Cowboy Rumba is just what the name implies: Ned’s lyrics, compositions and vocals combine with a dream team of all-star musicians from Cuba, the Dominican Republic, Puerto Rico, the New York salsa scene and ... Texas, for an utterly danceable ride.”

Umi Vaughan

Umi Vaughan is an artist and anthropologist who explores dance, creates photographs and performances, and publishes about African Diaspora culture. He has conducted extensive anthropological research in Cuba about Afro-Cuban music and dance, and created numerous scholarly presentations, art exhibits, and cultural events in the U.S. and abroad. He holds a Ph.D. in Cultural Anthropology from the University of Michigan. His photographic work has been commissioned for the permanent collection of Alameda County and the City of Oakland. Dr. Vaughan is the co-author of Carlos Alcaldama’s Life in Batá: Cuba, Diaspora, and the Drum (Indiana University Press, 2012) and Rebel Dance, Renegade Stance: Timba Music and Black Identity in Cuba (University of Michigan Press, 2013). Vaughan is currently Associate Professor of Africana Studies at California State University, Monterey Bay. To learn more visit UmiArt.com.

Cedric Watson

Four-time Grammy nominated musician from Lafayette, Louisiana, Cedric Watson plays a variety of traditional South-west Louisiana styles on Creole fiddle and Zydeco accordion. Originally from San Felipe, Texas (population 868), Watson moved to South Louisiana, immersing himself in French music and language. Over the next several years, he performed Creole music in 17 countries and on seven full-length albums with various groups, including his own, Bijou Creole. According to Matt Sircely, “From dance clubs of south Louisiana to a concert at London’s Barbican Center, Watson has emerged as a young, leading voice in Creole fiddle music. ‘What I like about the fiddle is: the fiddle is what puts the blues in French music.’ Watson’s bow, French vocals, and bluesy double-stops slide up the neck... long notes answer the vocal... Watson tips his hat to Canray Fontenot. ‘His style took you all over. It took you back to the Caribbean roots that we have, it took you back to France a lot of times, blues, Native American influences...’ All Creole music is on the downbeat,” he continues, contrasting the style to the boom-chuck of Cajun music or the snare hits of Zydeco. ‘If you can ever hear their feet tapping in some of the old recordings, they’re always on the down.’ [“Creole Fiddler Cedric Watson Is Helping to Preserve Tradition,” June 2011.]

- Louisiana Speckled Trout, Blue Crab, Grilled Asparagus, Garlic Mashed Potatoes, Fruit Tart
- Rice ’n Beans, Brown Rice Pilaf, Braised Lima Beans, Grilled Vegetables and Crispy Tofu, Fruit Tart

Bruce “Sunpie” Barnes combines the musical styles of Blues, Caribbean, Gospel, Funk, Zydeco and West African rhythms. According to the well-known radio station in New Orleans (WWOZ), “Bruce Sunpie Barnes is a veteran musician, park ranger, actor, former high school biology teacher, former college football All-American, and former NFL player (Kansas City Chiefs). Sunpie Barnes’ career has taken him far and wide, and he has traveled the world playing his own style of blues, zydeco and Afro-Louisiana music incorporating Caribbean and African influenced rhythms and melodies. He plays piano, percussion, harmonica, and accordion. He and his group, Sunpie and the Louisiana Sunspots, have recorded five critically acclaimed CDs, many of the songs in Creole French. Sunpie is deeply involved in New Orleans parade culture and takes his music to the streets. He is Second Chief of the North Side Skull and Bone Gang, one of the oldest existing carnival groups in New Orleans, and a member of the Black Men of Labor Social Aid and Pleasure Club.” He calls his music “Bouje Bouje” meaning to move, so it’s tailor-made for dancing.

Born on February 9th, 1983, Derron began his musical training in May of 1993 under the tutelage of Cedric Urquhart, Clint Mahon and Marcus Baptiste at the Manzanilla Police Youth Club. He showed rapid development in both music theory and practice, displaying a love for the steelpan, Trinidad and Tobago’s national instrument. In 1995 he started secondary education at Queen’s Royal College, joining the QRC Scouts and its resident Band. In the following seven years of College life, his strengths in reading, writing and performing music grew, and he has represented the College at many events. Since then, he has added a Certificate in Music (emphasis on Steelpan) at the Gordon Street campus of UWI St Augustine, and has been performing with many bands including popular parang group Los Tocadores, rock sensation Orange Sky, young jazz band Blue Culture of which he was a founding member, and most recently Rhapsody Next Generation, a crew of musicians dedicated to promoting the P.H.I. (Percussive Harmonic Instrument) and steelpan to the public of Trinidad & Tobago and the world. In addition, he writes and performs poetry and songs under the sobriquet “GhostMan868”.

Latin American and Caribbean Ethnic Studies

Editor in Chief: Leon Zamoec, University of California, San Diego, USA

Latin American and Caribbean Ethnic Studies is a cross-disciplinary venue for quality research on ethnicity, race relations, and indigenous peoples, and welcomes scholarly work from all the relevant disciplines in the Social Sciences and the Humanities. It is open to case studies, comparative analysis and theoretical contributions that reflect innovative and critical perspectives, focused on any country or countries in Latin America and the Caribbean, written by authors from anywhere in the world.

Why Haiti Needs New Narratives
A Post-Quake Chronicle
Gina Athena Ulysse

Mainstream news coverage of the catastrophic earthquake reproduced long-standing narratives and stereotypes of Haiti. Responding to these archaic portrayals, the feminist anthropologist and performance artist Gina Athena Ulysse embarked on a writing spree that lasted over two years. From the diaspora, Ulysse delivers trenchant cultural analysis of geopolitics and daily life in Haiti. Her complex yet singular aim is to explicate how the nation and its subjects continue to negotiate sovereignty and being in a world where, according to a Haitian saying, Tout moun se moun, men tout moun pa mwenm (All people are human, but all humans are not the same). The volume includes a foreword by award-winning author and historian Robin D. G. Kelley.

“Ulysse’s clear, powerful writing rips through the stereotypes to reveal a portrait of Haiti in politics and art that will change the way you think about that nation’s culture, and your own.”—Jonathan M. Katz, author of The Big Truck That Went By: How the World Came to Save Haiti and Left Behind a Disaster

ANNOUNCING THE

CRITICAL CARIBBEAN STUDIES SERIES

Series Editors: Yolanda Martinez-San Miguel; Nelson Maldonado-Torres; and Michelle Stephens

Focused particularly in the twentieth and twenty-first centuries, although attentive to the context of earlier eras, this series encourages interdisciplinary approaches and methods and is open to scholarship in a variety of areas, including anthropology, cultural studies, diaspora and transnational studies, environmental studies, gender and sexuality studies, history, and sociology. This series pays particular attention to the four main research clusters of Critical Caribbean Studies at Rutgers University, where the co-editors serve as members of the executive board: Caribbean Critical Studies, Theory, and the Disciplines; Archipelagic Studies and Creolization; Caribbean Aesthetics, Poetics, and Politics; and Caribbean Colonialities.
